

LA Jewish Symphony joins with Rubin Academy

The conductor and selected soloists of the Los Angeles Jewish Symphony will join the Rubin Academy Orchestra in a program of "Cinema Judaica: Film Music with Jewish Themes," on May 14 and 15 at Claremont Hall on the Tel Aviv University campus.

Dr. Noreen Green, artistic director and conductor of the Los Angeles orchestra, said the program will pay tribute to the soldiers of the 1976 Entebbe rescue mission by playing selections from the film Victory at Entebbe by composer Charles Fox. Veterans of the historic raid will attend the performance.

The visit by the Los Angeles musicians is sponsored by the Tel Aviv - Los Angeles Partnership Program. Tom Tugend
