

BEST BETS

Sunday 121

THE LIFE AS

BOB HAMCO

THE LIFE AS

Friends of Arts
1000 and
10 Oaks,
71805

4pm Music

Songs from the musical "Annie Get Your Gun," along with selections from other classic musicals, will be featured in "The Music of Irving Berlin" an audience sing-along presented by the Sing Sing Sing Ensemble and led by Judy Wozniak. Song sheets are provided.
■ "The Music of Irving Berlin" Jazz Bakery, 3233 Helms Ave., Culver City 4 p.m. $17 (310) 271-9039, (310) 546-5470.

Associated Press

all day Art

From the semi-functional furniture of designer Roy McMakin to a room-sized trailer home and bomb shelter re-created by Atelier van Lieshout, "Against Design" spotlights works that blur the boundaries between art, architecture and design. Opening Sunday at the Museum of Contemporary Art, San Diego, the traveling survey will also feature works by Kevin Appel, Jorge Pardo, Joe Scanlan, Pae White, Andrea Zittel, Tobias Rehberger, Angela Bulloch and Clay Ketter. Don't be shy. Most of the pieces in the exhibition, which was organized by the Institute of Contemporary Art in Philadelphia, are interactive.
■ "Against Design," Museum of Contemporary Art, San Diego, 700 Prospect St., La Jolla. Daily, 11 a.m.-5 p.m.; Thursday, 11 a.m.-8 p.m.; closed Wednesday. Ends May 20. $254. (858) 464-3641.

2pm Music

Young New York pianist Navah Perlman will play a recital of music by Bach, Corelli, Schumann, Copland and Chopin at Pepperdine University.
■ Navah Perlman, Ralff Recital Hall at Pepperdine University, 24255 Pacific Coast Highway, Malibu, 2 p.m. $20. (310) 458-4522.

2pm Music

The last person to work on a film or TV show often is the composer, whose finishing touches can establish the perfect mood for the work. TV and film composers William Goldstein, Charles

CHRISTIAN STREIBER

Plants Navah Perlman will appear in Pepperdine recital.

Fox, Cliff Eidelman and Maria Newman will show clips of their work — with and without the music — and discuss the process of film scoring for "Lights, Camera, Musical," a benefit for the Los Angeles Jewish Symphony.
■ "Lights, Camera, Musical,"

Fox Studios, Newman Scoring Stage, 10201 Pico Blvd., L.A., 2 p.m. $125. (818) 753-6681.

2 & 6pm Pop Music

The Chieftains' 1989 album "Tears of Stone" gathered a roster of female singers to collaborate with the traditional Irish group. One of them, Joan Osborne, will join the band on stage, along with star fiddler Natalie MacMaster, when the band comes to Cerritos.
■ The Chieftains, Cerritos Center for the Performing Arts, 12700 Center Court, Cerritos, 2 and

6 p.m. $20. (714) 942-2205.

■ Russian violinist Ilya Gringolts, who made his local debut last summer at the Hollywood Bowl, returns in recital the "Sundays at 7" series at the Beverly Hills Public Library, 444 N. Rexford Dr., Beverly Hills, with American pianist Amanda von Goet. Their program lists works by Ysaye, Chopin, Ernst, Brahms, Tartini and Kreisler. (310) 271-2205.